1. The second in a series of indoctrination lectures for Germans employed by the SMA in Karlshorst was given by Major Brotsky, who spoke on Russian world goals. He stated that Russia, in order to combat spreading anti-Bolshevist propaganda, has undertaken the establishment of information centers throughout the world, which will be directed by party members trained especially for this purpose in schools similar to that located in Königswusterhausen. The work of these offices will determine whether the countries in which they are located achieve unity according to Communist plans or are launched into multi-party chaos. Their duties include not only close observation of all parties, but the expulsion of unreliable party leaders by the use of Communistic tactics. Recent flights of such leaders from various countries are to be attributed exclusively to the efficient operation of these offices.
2. The information centers in Milan, Venice, and Trieste have met with particular success, and similar ones are now being organized in other cities of northern Italy, in Vienna, in Warsaw, and in Prague, Aussig, and Eger. A special drive will be made to win over the nations of South America; a training school has been founded in southern France to prepare personnel to go to South America.
3. In Germany an intensive campaign is to be launched against the anti-Russian propaganda released in the American-dominated press. A primary aim of the occupying power in the Eastern Zone is the union of the LDP and the CDU with the SED in an anti-fascist bloc. Tulpanov plans to invite the leaders of the LDP and the CDU to a discussion of the question. If an agreement can be reached, the resultant party union may count upon Russian support in all issues. The Russian Zone must be purged of reactionary elements, and the full cooperation of party members in Berlin and in the zone is expected. Every opportunity to denounce and discredit leading members of parties other than the SED must be utilized. By these means the Russians hope to achieve some unity within the next half year.

- 4 In conclusion Major Brotsky spoke briefly on economic questions, mentioning that basic changes are to occur in industry in the Russian Zone. A large number of the Soviet AGs will be moved to Rumania, Poland, and Russia. The technicians and specialists now in their employ will be given an opportunity to choose between accompanying them to their new location or remaining in Germany.
